Crossfield Fire Brigade And Fire-Fighting Equipment In Tip-Top Shape

Messrs. of W. J. Wood's Garage are busy working on the old '29 Chev., which is to be the future fire engine. One of the chemical engines will be mounted on this motor vehicle, and the other will be mounted on rubber tires, so as to enable our brigade to get to the scene of fire (in the event we have one; which is something we are not wishing for) in time to get it under control, or extinguish it altogether.

Fred Collins has already suggested the purchase of Louie Becker's famed bicycle for the Chief, who is to lead the gang of fire fighters at the critical moment.

Regardless of the humorous remarks, the village of Crossfield will have proper equipment, and with the energetic firemen, who are anxious to do the best, the minds of the local citizens will be somewhat eased.

War Memorial

The material for the War Memorial is now on the sight in the local park and as soon as the weather clears up, the contractors are expected to proceed with the building of this memorial.

It is hoped that the unveiling ceremony will be made a wide-open community event, and there is no reason why it should not be carried out with the dignity which the occasion calls for. We feel sure that with the Board of Trade co-operating with the local branch of the Canadian League, arrangements for the unveiling of the memorial will be made worthy of the tribute being extended by the citizens of the community to those who gave their lives in the Great War.

Board o'Trade Dance Friday, June 30th

The regular monthly dance of the local Board of Trade falls on Sports Day, June 30th. The usual sports day spirit will be there, besides having secured Len Davis Orchestra.

Remember the day and the fun and, the day after is a holiday.

Local Board of Trade Sports and Entertainment Committees Hold Meeting

At a meeting held by the sports and entertainment committees of the Crossfield and District Board of Trade, in the office of T. Tredaway, Saturday evening last, it was arranged to hold the annual sports day on Friday, June 30th. Again, as last year, $100 have been voted for prizes, besides bringing to the public advantage of all the tournaments of the season. And folks, this year also brings to us mid-way attractions, which, in conjunction with all the booths and refreshment stands, will help to make a big day of June 30.

In the evening will be a grand dance, with music by Len Davis and his orchestra. Have a good time, because the next day will be a holiday, so, sleep, baby sleep. Let's Go to the Crossfield Sports.

Mid-way Comes to Town

In spite of the rainfall and wind that occurred while the Van Dusen company had their little mid-way set up in Crossfield, those of us who trudged through the mud to see and hear, most, if not all, that the colourful tents and bright lights attract, enjoyed the show. . . . Sometimes, however, the spectators get the biggest thrill.

We onlookers, having spent our allowance on the various rides (both of them) marvelled at the way some of those old riding hands man-handled those broncos on the merry-go-round. We didn't know you could still do it, Corporal; and for a returned soldier R. D. Sutherland did splendidly. Of course T. Tredaway and Merle Jones were not to be outdone, showing real horsemanship.

The men that are supposed to be experts at guessing a man's weight are often badly beaten. The penalties handed out were many.

Crossfield Ladies Entertain United Church Presbyterial Women's Association

The Crossfield United Church Ladies Aid, with the assistance of friends in the congregations of the pastoral charge, entertained the Red Deer Presbyterial Women's Association at dinner and Luncheon in the Masonic Hall basement, on Friday evening last, June 9th, when 118 people sat down to well-laden tables. At the conclusion of the meal, the President, Mrs. Harper, of Didsbury, asked for the reading of the minutes when the Presbyterial was organized at Innisfail, 10 years ago. Many interesting details were recalled. Rev. W. J. Huston, of Rimbev, who had initiated the organization, had been invited to attend this year and extend greetings, which he did, complimenting the ladies upon the success of their work. Three ladies from points in the Lacombe Presbytery accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Huston, and are desirous of setting up a similar organization.

The ladies gathered in the United Church to hear reports of work done by local Ladies Aids or Associations, and are challenging Mrs. (Rev) Harback, of Calgary, on the topic "The Woman's Association, a Dynamic in the Life of the Church."

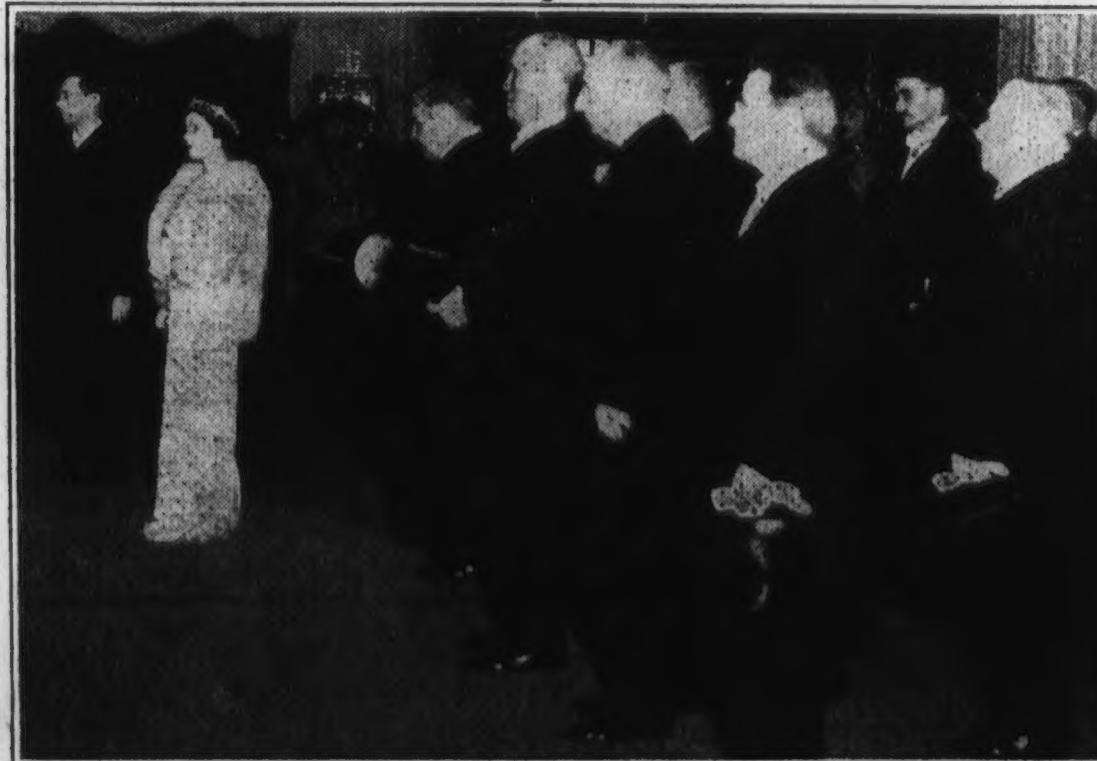

Mrs. Lilley gave a reading. Mrs. Fleming and Wilda Laut each sang solos, all receiving hearty applause. The "Cuckoo Song" was sung by members of the high school to the interest and amusement of everyone.

Officers for the year are: President, Mrs. Kem McLaren, of Bowden, Secretary, Mrs. V. Fox of Innisfail, Treasurer, Mrs. E. Fox of Crossfield.

Before departing, the guests were served lunch, at which a birthday cake, presented by the Innisfail ladies, was cut in honor of the tenth anniversary of the organization. The Crossfield ladies were heartily congratulated upon their hospitality.

Believe it or not! Happy got a black eye when he was sober.

CROSSFIELD, THURSDAY, JUNE 15, 1939

Around Field And Barn.

By E. M. C.

In view of letters I have received, friendly and not so friendly, I wish to say very definitely that this column, or this writer has no party.

In past years, and in another place I happen to have had experience enough to come to believe that "our party" too often means only patronage and propaganda. And you may call that party by any name; Conservative, Social Credit, Liberal. I will oppose, criticise, or ridicule, each and all of them as I consider it in the best interests of this province and district so to do, and you do not have to agree.

But I am interested in the policy of the individual who will think things out for himself, no matter if I think him right or wrong.

I was always a strong supporter of the U.F.A. but I was opposed to them forming a government or joining up with labour; I said they were cockeyed, they said I was crazy.

Well when the U.F.A. plank began to tip, they landed very neatly onto the Social Credit plank. Again I told them they were cockeyed, they were getting tired of me and told me a number of things. But I notice they are getting ready for another hop; where they will land this next time is anyone's guess, but I bet they will get wet feet, unless they take a good long look before they leap.

As was only to be expected, I have been asked, "What have you to offer?" And is my face red! Well, at the moment, Unity—take it or leave it, it is your only hope, or go down up to your chin. In the long view, since it is admitted by all authorities that agriculture is the basis of all economy, and the condition good or bad, of the farmer, reflects on the whole nation, then the problem must be approached from that angle.

But since everyone seems willing to milk the agricultural cow and no one anxious to feed it, the said cow must attend to its own needs. It must get rid of the poke around its neck and do some rustling on its own account.

Someone is likely to get hurt, but when the old cow dries up or dies of starvation, what then?

This throwing a bundle over the fence when her bawling gets tiresome, and a drink of dirty water once in a while, is the cause of a great deal of the unrest. The milk is poor,—neglect. Translate that into economic language, and think it through for yourself, "Politics without party, criticism without 'can't'."

RADIO OPINIONS AND NEWS by Phil Carscallen PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT CFAC

CFAC Announcer Complimented

An unconscious compliment was paid Pat Freeman, CFAC production manager, and special events commentator during his recent Royal Visit tour. On the Plains of Abraham at Quebec, George Hicks, ace NBC special events commentator, was to give a fifteen minute broadcast to NBC on his impressions of an American. When the time came for him to go on the air, Pat Freeman was giving a word-picture for the benefit of Canadian listeners, and Mr. Hicks was so impressed with his delivery, that he allowed "Pat" to run seven minutes into his own allotted time on the NBC network.

Pat Freeman tells us that although he wouldn't have missed the chance to be guest commentator, it was anything but a holiday or "picnic". After hearing a few details we are inclined to agree with him. Rehearsals were called as early as seven o'clock in the morning. Weather conditions varied from intense heat to rain and cold biting winds. Meals were missed, sleep was curtailed, and there was simply no time for social activities.

Once Pat and another commentator were locked in a museum by mistake for several hours. At Woodbine Race Track in Toronto, Pat was suffering an attack of influenza; during the broadcast he had a temperature of one hundred and one, and was only able to continue with the aid of quinine. He travelled over seven thousand five hundred miles by train in less than twenty days—with time out for all rehearsals and broadcasts. After the commentary from Calgary, Pat flew to Vancouver, then back to Calgary, and on to Edmonton, where he was guest on the Edmonton three station hook-up.

Another experience in Edmonton. Pat pushed his two hundred pounds through the dense crowd to reach his broadening point. He climbed up a fire-escape, around an obstruction designed to keep people off the roof, and—found himself on the wrong building. He had to retrace his steps.

Pat Freeman was the only guest commentator on the tour, that is, he was the only announcer from a private station—the others were CBC staff announcers. Pat, it is believed, did more actuality broadcasts, and had more time on the air than any other member of the Special Staff.

It's Holiday Time Again!

Summer has rolled around again, and everyone is looking longingly at the green trees and fields. Jack Dennett and Pat Freeman are turning grey trying to get a holiday schedule worked out. It really is quite a job because while one person is away someone else has to do double work—and since all the work is specialized, it is difficult to get someone to fill in.

For instance, Mayette Robson will be leaving shortly. She does the "P.V." (program schedule worked out to the second) writes continuity for several "shows", as well as several other duties. Your column has been doing a little visiting to the different departments and has seen Margaret Darrau working along with Mayette mastering the art of the P.V. Dick Tregillis, CFAC Traffic Manager and "Bright Side" announcer, will be leaving for a well-earned rest and we've seen Jack Stewart and Ken Hughes, CFAC announcers, being initiated to the arts of managing "program traffic". Then, there is the little matter of shipping electrical transcriptions to be looked after, and we've a sneaking hunch who will be handed that job.

Of course there are several who aren't quite sure where they are going for their long-looked-for rest, but we have a hunch Jack Dennett will be looking to the south, the U.S.A.; that Chief Engineer Earle Connor will be looking toward the west coast, as will Frank Fleming, Manager of Publicity. As for Pat Freeman, well, our bet is that it will be a very short distance away—and NOT by train—these last nine thousand miles on Royal Visit Broadcasts have cured him for awhile.

Actually, what's the use of a holiday? You have to work extra hours so that everything will run smoothly in your department; you have to train someone to do your daily routine; and you are all worn out by the time you leave. Then while you're away, you worry in case something goes wrong. You lie out in the sun, and get blistered, and feel miserable; or go fishing and catch a cold; or, you wear yourself out travelling, and having a "good time". Then you come back to find all your work piled up on you, and everything tangled into an unholy mess—Maybe it's the rain. See how I feel next week!

Anonymous Announcer Croons

One of the rarities of radio—an announcer who receives quantities of fan mail and presents yet his identity is never revealed to the listeners. He croons the commercials on the Lux program, "The Life and Love of Dr. Susan" which is heard over the Columbia network, Mondays through Fridays, at 11:15 a.m., over CFAC. Most of the mail is addressed simply "To the announcer on the Dr. Susan program". He's received letters for "The singing announcer", "Crosby's double", and, "The Life and Love of Dr. Susan's singer". Still he remains anonymous.

Business goes where it is invited and stays where it is made welcome.

A HISTORY IN THIRTY

CHAPTERTWENTY SEVEN

"Knowledge is now no more a fountain sealed; Drink deep."

—Tennyson.

While the trip to Africa of the Duke and Duchess of York, the present King George the Sixth and Queen Elizabeth, was not an official state visit to this outpost of the Empire, yet wherever they travelled on that dark continent the party received a tremendous reception, indicating that the Royal couple was extremely popular with men, women and children in every station of life, regardless where they may be located. However, in face of the success of this voyage history records that the actual "Imperial" career of the present King started during the year of 1925, when he began to appear more and more in certain public functions which aided to no small extent to endear him to his millions of subjects and incidentally commended the bonds of friendship between the component parts of the great Empire.

On May 12th 1925, he officiated at the opening of the famous Wembley Empire Exhibition, and this was but one of the many other tasks which he assumed as representative of the British Royalty because his eldest brother was absent on a trip to South Africa and Argentina. In the following month, he was seen often in various sections of the land where he participated in ceremonials or public functions or just tours of inspection to become acquainted at first hand with the life and work of the people, particularly in the industrial towns and cities throughout the British Isles. In the early autumn of the same year, the Duke and Duchess went north to Scotland, spending a short time at Glamis and Balmoral, and upon their return to London, they took up their residence in Curzon House.

In the spring, they moved to the home of the Duchess' parents in Bruton Street, where on April 21st 1926 their first child, Princess Elizabeth, the Heir Presumptive to the throne, was born and this news brought great joy and happiness throughout the whole British Empire. When the baby was only eight months of age, they had to leave on an important state mission. They had received an invitation to open the new state capital of Canberra in Australia, and history was to repeat itself because on the exact same date, May 9th, twenty-six years before, the father of the present King when he was the Duke of York, opened the Parliament at Melbourne in 1901. On January 6th 1927, the Royal couple sailed away from Portsmouth on the famous battle-cruiser Renown. During the long trip, they stopped at numerous places for ceremonials and receptions, such as Las Palmas, Port Royal, Fort Charles, Colon, Panama Canal, Marquesas Islands, Fiji Islands, Auckland, Bay of Islands, Moturiki, Lake Taupe, Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, Canberra, Malta, Gibraltar and many other historic places. In the course of the tour, they received acclamations that indicated the enthusiasm of the crowds for the young couple who were carrying out an Imperial duty, and many gifts, speeches and other tokens of admiration were showered upon them by the fifty-three mayors, officials' ex-Service men, Girl Guides and Boy Scouts, school children, and in fact, every representative section of the community. However, in the midst of these public functions, the Duke did not miss a single opportunity to study the actual structure of the Empire, and time and again he went away on unscheduled trips to learn for himself what he wanted to know.

about a place or a people. It was typical of the Duke.

The only unfortunate happenings on the long trip was the illness of the Duchess, who suffered an attack of tonsilitis in New Zealand, and when the Renown was a thousand miles away from Australia on the return trip there was a serious fire in the oil bunkers, which was put out after much effort. On June 27 1927, they returned home.

The World of Wheat.

By H. G. L. Strange

The manner by which temporary help is to be given for this year to Western farmers has now been settled by the Dominion Government. The assistance is appreciated, and it will do much to tide the West over for another year.

But no bonus or assistance given by the Dominion Government will ever sell abroad one extra bushel of wheat. So now the real and important problem has to be faced; i.e. how to sell our total average annual wheat produced for export which will mean the sale of about 100 million bushels each year more than the world is now purchasing.

There are millions of people in the world today who are sadly in need of these extra 100 million

The High School have been invited to attend Divine service next Sunday June 18th at 7:30 p.m. The public School will attend the United church.

The Summer school of the Anglican Church will be held at St. Paul's School, Cardston, from July 3rd to July 8th. Bus fare from Calgary $5.25 return; if 35 or more go from Calgary then the fare will be around $3.25.

Register with Mrs. Parker, Cardston, by June 28th.

Man is not alone in his capacity for great good and great evil. Consider the bee. It makes honey at one end and poison at the other.

bushels of Canadian wheat, and who are willing in turn to pay for this additional food with their own manufactured goods. But the Canadian and other high tariffs, and other restrictions set up, which now strangle international trade, prevent these healthy exchanges from taking place. Only the removal of these harmful obstructions to international trade will, I believe, solve this important problem. This matter, I courteously suggest, should now be studied earnestly by all Western farmers, and by all those who are the farmers' true friends.

Sufficient Rain For Crops.

We have heard many say that we already have sufficient moisture to assure a crop for this year. Although we have had six and a quarter inches this spring, the ground still seems to absorb any moisture that is sent. At any rate, conditions are much better than last year, as the moisture received is much earlier.

Anglican J.W.A. Tea

The Crossfield Anglican Junior Women's Auxiliary had a most successful tea on the verandah of Mr. and Mrs. I. Lewis. Jupiter Pluvius was most kind in keeping of the rain until all the guests had departed, highly delighted with the good things the Juniors had prepared for them.

Many thanks are due to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis for the use of their home, and to the parents and friends who supported the youngsters.

The bride was attired in a pale blue gown, navy coat and hat with white flowers and accessories.

Mrs. M. Harbidge was the maid of honour. Mr. M. Harbidge attended the groom.

Alice and Teunisje Jansen sang "Oh Promise Me," accompanied by a trumpet, played by Mr. E. Osterhaven.

Following the ceremony lunch was served, with a three-tier wedding cake centering the table.

The wedding guests were Rev. and Mrs. Hoekman of Monarch, Mr. and Mrs. M. Harbidge and family, Mrs. C. Harbidge and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Blatchford and children, Mrs. Keegstra and daughter of Kirkcaldy, Mr. and Mrs. Hendry of Crossfield, Mr. and Mrs. H. Jansen and family, Mrs. P.
